

DEATH CLAIMS

GEN. JACK GROSS.

Former United States Marshal
Passes Away At His Home
At Holt.

WAS BURIED HERE.

Gen. A. Jack Gross, one of the most widely known men in Kentucky, died of Bright's disease at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at his home at Holt in Breckenridge county, near this city.

Over a year, he had been in ill health, and several months ago he went to Louisville for treatment, but his trouble hung on persistently, and in the last two weeks the disease developed with such rapidity that his death was expected. When the end came he was surrounded by his wife and adopted daughter, Mrs. O. DeHaven, of this city, and his close friends.

His life was an example of loyalty and industry. He had a wonderful amount of energy; worked hard in time of peace and fought bravely in time of war. Gen. Gross had a barrel of old-fashioned horse sense and a heart full of gratitude. He was very conservative and disliked novelty.

He was born October 31, 1843, and his mother, a widow, brought him to this place when he was four years of age. His boyhood days were spent here, and when the Civil War broke out he enlisted with Col. William B. Haldeman in the Orphan Brigade, under Gen. John C. Breckinridge.

Later he went to Fordville, where his friend, Col. W. B. Haldeman, visited him quite frequently, and it was through Col. Haldeman that he received his appointment as U. S. Marshal during Cleveland's administration in 1884. He was Adjutant General under Gov. John Young Brown.

Forty years ago he married Miss Sallie Smart, the daughter of the late Greenwood Smart, and a sister of William Smart, of this city. They spent much of their time in Frankfort and lived at the Capital Hotel. In recent years Gen. and Mrs. Gross have made their home on their farm at Holt. Besides being a successful farmer he was an extensive dealer in tobacco.

The funeral of Gen. Gross was held Saturday morning and the interment took place in the Cloverport cemetery at 11:30. The services were beautifully conducted by the Rev. James Lewis. The pall-bearers were: Morris Beard, Thos. Flood, Thos. Tousey, Edward Oglesby, O. DeHaven and Claude Mercer.

BASE BALL.

An exciting game was played Monday afternoon by the Hill Billies and Cow Healers. The score was 15 to 14 in favor of H. B's. The Hill Billy team is composed of the following: Everett Noble, Marcus Miller, C. McCracken, Lewis Miller, Carl Mattingly, Joe Miller, Adlin Kraemer, Walter Weisenberger, Herbert Moorman.

The Cow Healers team members are: Johnson, Wroe, Herman Lewis, Berry, Wallace Lewis, H. and M. Morrison, Holder and Happy Tate. The game was one of the best that has been played this season.

The Cloverport Second Nine met defeat at Hardinburg Saturday.

The Gaston Boys crossed bats with the Irvington Boys on their diamond last Saturday afternoon. They played ten innings and quit with a score 13 in favor of Irvington. The Irvington team is becoming to be quite experts in the way of players and they are ready at any time to challenge another team who are in for a real good game.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

WEDNESDAY LAST.

Miss Margaret Moorman Lovely
Bride And Charming Bridal Party In Methodist Church.

A most beautiful wedding and the first one that has ever taken place in the Methodist church was that of Miss Margaret Wicklife Moorman and Dr. John Edwards Kinchloe which was solemnized Wednesday evening of last week at 8:30 o'clock. The Rev. B. M. Currie officiated in the marriage ceremony and the music for the occasion was rendered by Miss Lillie Muir Waller, an accomplished musician, of Morganfield.

The church was beautifully decorated. An altar of evergreens made a picturesque background and the chancel was gorgeously banked with ferns and potted plants.

The groomsmen: Messrs. Tom Moore, Tom Bowmer, Chas. Morris and Claude Mercer entered first and were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Lewis Kinchloe. The bridesmaids: Misses Ray Heyser, Nancy Kinchloe, Lola Sevens and Louise Babbage came next. Their dresses were white and girdles pink, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding. Each maid wore her hair high and pink ribbon laced through it. The matron of honor, Mrs. Margaret Bennett, and the maid of honor, Miss Sue Roberts Watkins, preceded the bride and her cousin, Mr. Chas. Moorman, who gave her away. The matron of honor looked very handsome in an exquisite pink dress and the maid of honor wore white silk.

The bride's dress was a lovely white gown and the bridal veil was quite graceful and becoming. She never looked prettier and she won the admiration of over four hundred guests. The maid's flowers were sweet-peas and the bride carried a basket of roses. The ushers were: Messrs. Chas. Skillman, Chas. Fallon, J. A. Barry and J. C. Nolte. The ribbon girls were: Misses Eloise Nolte, Lenora McGavack and Elizabeth Skillman.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wicklife Moorman gave a delightful reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Kinchloe. Only the bridal party and the following were present: Misses Ella and Jane Smith, Miss Marion Bowmer, Wm. and Victor Bowmer, Lewis Kinchloe out the ring from the wedding cake, Miss Ray Heyser, the dancing needle, Miss Nancy Kinchloe, the thimble and Mr. Tom Moore, the dime.

REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

HERE is the man whose personality is to become as familiar to all his countrymen as that of Theodore Roosevelt. William Howard Taft during the last year has been presented to the people by the pen of almost every one of our writers who are best able to estimate men. Yet the people's democratic wish to know and know intimately the individual character of a nominee for the Presidency makes them anxious and eager for more knowledge of him.

The way to get it is to see and talk to the man himself. Each one of his estimators has called Taft simple, sincere and strong. Each has given him modesty and self-restraint. Each has spoken of his approachableness, of his big hearty laugh and his great heart. These are hard characteristics to write on without producing an impression that the writer is overdoing it a bit. Yet a meeting with Mr. Taft is convincing proof that the error has not been on the side of exaggeration.

Mr. Taft does not give one the instantaneous impression of himself that Mr. Roosevelt does. The effect comes more slowly. First, you are surprised to find that this man is called to so exceptional a place, is so like so many other people that you know. There is no Olympian abstraction about him. He is not thinking of Cuba or the Philippines when he is shaking hands with you. On the contrary there is the same free direct relationship as that which accompanies an introduction to a man in your own office.

If you have known Mr. Taft before, you get a sounding "Hello" that bids fair to become as well known as the more familiar "de-lighted." If not, your welcome is more gentle, but you feel that you will be sure to get the "Hello" next time. The fact that you occupy the entire attention of the man makes you certain of it. For there is a solid substratum of honesty beneath the whole proceeding that removes it utterly from the routine political hand-shaking. You like him and you can't help it.

It is a thousand to one that you will be surprised at the physique of William Howard Taft. Not only the cartoonists but the photographers have made us all believe that Taft is fat. The same phenomenon is true of Roosevelt, and in a lesser degree of the Kaiser and King Edward, for it is a survival of the heroic tradition to add physical size to our idea of the great ones of the earth.

The man who seems surely destined to enter the White House next March is not fat. He is of large build, but his movements are exact and certain. He does not hoist himself from one foot to the other as he walks, but swings steadily forward like a battle ship that knows where it wants to go and intends to get there.

In fact his frame gives you your first sense of his power and his eyes back it up and drive it home. There is a great deal in those eyes. There is not only the frankness and kindness that goes with their deep blue, but there is settled purpose and wisdom and a wonderful "trustworthiness." They begin to make you understand why the republic has come to hold the man morally and mentally capable of performing the high duties of his chief executive.

This understanding gains force as you talk with Mr. Taft. His voice has a good masculine rumble to it, and his words are not slouched or slurred over. Each sounds as if it meant something, and when you think it over afterward you find that each does its part in the exact expression of an idea. Not that Mr. Taft's diction is settled; it is far from that, falling easily into the vigorous and picturesque terms which we Americans have created for our own particular use. But the coming President shows in his speech the intelligent mind that knows word values as a scholar, a jurist and a statesman must know them.

You will find, too, as the talk progresses, that the kindliness and gentleness in Mr. Taft's character are not weakness. He will not be hard or bitter, nor will he fly out at you and try to cram his opinions down your throat. On the other hand, he will tell you bravely and squarely what he thinks, and he will not permit for a moment any misconception of his views or any slight, however easy to pass over, upon the principles which he believes to be the most important thing in his life.

This trait Mr. Taft showed us all at the Boston banquet, where he refused to sit silent, as a lesser man would have done, under the tactless insinuations which a New York jester sought to make against Theodore Roosevelt and the moral aversion of the American people. His uncompromising courage in this direction Taft never fails to display, and your assurance of this characteristic, together with your consciousness of his undoubted ability, are the most important impressions that you will take away with you.

For after all what the people want is a President who will see to it that there is no turning back in the policies which the nation has marked out for itself. A talk with William Howard Taft must convince any open-minded American that here is a man firm enough to prevent any recession and mentally able in behalf of the people to meet on an equal ground the master minds of politics, of business and of the world of finance.—Chicago Evening Post.

The anxious bargain-hunters lined up in front of their store 200 strong waiting for the opening which was announced for 8:30 a. m. It was a special sale of buckets for half an hour only, and in fifteen minutes or less time 150 were sold. From the hour of opening to the close their store was crowded with eager buyers. It looked like Christmas times. What the Beards are doing, others can do if they will.

Taft and Sherman suit us all right. It is a winning ticket no matter who the Democrats put up. A majority of the American people are satisfied with the policies inaugurated by Roosevelt and the Republican party, and they do not want a change. For forty years they have carried on this government. They have made us what we are—the greatest nation on earth—a world power. The independent voter sees this and knows it, and what he wants is good government, honest, stable and lasting. And he will stand to the party that gives it to him. The only reward the independent voter wants is good government. He is not after spoils or political preferment. He is not a knocker or a kicker, just a plain, free, American citizen who loves his country for his country's sake, and votes as his conscience dictates.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitution of remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

HARDINSBURG MAN GOT KISSED.

Charmed With Visit to Cloverport, But H. L. Stader's Information Will Disturb His Fond Recollections.

HAPPENED IN THE DARK.

One night last week a prominent Breckenridge county man was here from Hardinsburg and upon his return home the next morning he very proudly told at the county capital what happened to him in Cloverport. "My visit down here last night was out of the ordinary. I was at the station in a big crowd and some woman slipped up behind me and kissed my cheek. It occurred so suddenly and was over so quickly I never could find out who thought so much of me."

Since H. L. Stader, who is always at the station when the trains are due, has told this information of the incident, that Hardinsburg man's "kissing story" has dried up like an April shower. Mr. Stader says, "The person who did the kissing thought that man was her son who had just returned from the armory." "The mistaken lady was as black as the ace of spades," says Mr. Stader.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fitch and son, Jimmie, went to Louisville Saturday. They left there yesterday for West Virginia, where they will spend several weeks the guests of relatives.

ENJOYABLE RECITAL

(Too late for last week.)

Mrs. Withers' recitals always draw a crowded house, and the one on Tuesday last week was greeted by an unusually large and attentive audience and pronounced by all present to be in every respect the most delightful evening of music ever given in Hardinsburg. Each year these recitals are eagerly anticipated by our musical people and always measure up to the standard of excellence. The program was carefully selected, finely arranged and faultlessly rendered.

The Topsy-Turvy chorus added a wave of merriment and called forth great applause and laughter, while "The Japanese Maidens" and the "Good-Night Drill" were specially beautiful, with the glow of youth and childhood over all. The chorus singing was exceptionally fine and every piece of music rendered was worthy of special mention.

Mrs. Withers is untiring in her efforts and rich in resources, and her talented pupils are always in demand in all musical entertainments given in our town. She is an accomplished cultured Christian lady, and the parents of her pupils are to be congratulated on having placed their children under her instruction and influence.

Great praise has been bestowed upon the four handsome little ushers, Howard Hook, Franklin Beard, Ely Davall and Fehaniel Shellman who on their first appearance at Mrs. Withers' recital, so skillfully managed to seat the large crowd gathered at the Opera House. The original stage decorations under the direction of Mrs. M. H. Beard, Mrs. P. M. Beard and Mrs. L. B. Reaver were pronounced by competent judges to be the most artistic ever seen in this place.

A Rabbit and a Whistle.
Did you know the other night, sharp whistle from the mouth would stop a rabbit? It surely does. Next time you see little Molly Cottontail leap from her burrow and make off don't shoot her whistle. Whether from fear or curiosity I cannot tell, but she will stop still in her tracks. An antelope has been known to do likewise. An African hunter once said that the elephant is the most timid of all animals and can be frightened into a cold sweat by a mysterious noise.—Smart Press.

Those Consultations.
"Why do they have consultations of physicians, pa?"
"Sometimes one doctor can think of something to operate for that hasn't occurred to the other."—Smart Set.

Not Always.
"Well," said the cannibal chief as his followers brought in the lean but plucky explorer, "who in blazes ever said the braver are the tenderest?"—Princeton Tiger.

How do You get Your Water?

There are Several Ways to Do It.

Are you using a modern, hygienic, labor-saving, convenient method, or do you use the windlass or rope or back-breaking pump in your well or cistern, and tote water in a pail from your spring? If you are using these unhandy, uneconomical and unsatisfactory—if you stop-and-think about it, you will do well to investigate the Howard System for Domestic Water Supply.

At a small first cost you can have this system installed in your home, and after doing a few minutes' work each morning, it enables you to have fresh cool water flow direct from well, cistern or spring to any part of the house or premises, by simply opening the valve at the point where water is desired.

All the work for the day may be done at one time by a special hand air pump that is easily operated with one hand.

If you will write us we will gladly furnish you full information regarding our system.

MINE TIMBERS.

They Add Eight Cents to the Cost of Each Ton of Anthracite.

The cost of every ton of anthracite is increased 8 cents by the expense of the mine timbers. To supply these timbers, says the Vegetarian Magazine, requires each year the product of approximately 150,000 acres of forest.

Timber is used for cross ties for tram roads in the main haulage ways, as wooden rollers and as props. A set of gangway timber consists of two legs, commonly nine or ten feet long and about thirteen inches in diameter, and a collar six or seven feet long. These sets are placed on the ground at intervals of five feet. One gangway frequently contains 1,000 sets, and ten gangways to a colliery is not an unusual number.

The average life of the timber is hardly above two years. Forty-five per cent of the timbers are destroyed by decay, while breakage, war and insects destroy the remainder. By peeling the timbers and properly seasoning them and especially by giving them a treatment in oils or chemical salts their length of service is materially increased.

The Marble and the Pencil.
The marble trick is old as the days of Aristotle. Cross the middle and fore fingers and roll a marble between them. The marble will feel like two, because it is being felt by an unconscious way. If a pencil is drawn between the crossed fingers the one pencil will feel like parallel bars. The same illusion may be worked by placing the pencil between the lips and then moving the under lip to one side, causing the pencil to feel like two. More curious than any of these is the one where the forefinger is crossed over the little finger behind the other two and then applied to the end of the nose. Not only can you feel two, but one of them seems to be about an inch longer than the other. This last sensation is caused by the fact that we do not ordinarily feel the edge of any object with these two fingers at the same time unless the part felt with the little finger projects beyond the part felt by the forefinger—St. Louis Republic.

Born in Iowa.

Our family were all born and raised in Iowa, and have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (made at Des Moines) for years. We know how good it is from long experience in the use of it. In fact, when in El Paso, Texas, the writer's life was saved by the prompt use of this remedy. We are now engaged in the mercantile business at Narbonne, Texas, and have introduced the remedy here. It has proved very successful and is constantly growing in favor.—Eugene Bros. This remedy is for sale by Severs Drug Co.

St. Peter's in Rome.

From the beginning of the foundation to the time when the great church of St. Peter's in Rome could be said to be complete three and a half centuries had elapsed, eighteen architects had been employed and forty-three popes had reigned. The cost of the great church can never be known with exactness. At the end of the seventeenth century it had cost $500,000, and, with including the sacristy bell, towers etc. The last important work on the edifice was done by Pope Pius IX. on the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of Michelangelo.—New York American.

Epilepsy, Fits

Convulsions, or Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance are Nervous Diseases. Most cases can be cured by strengthening and building up the nervous system. To do this a nerve medicine is needed. Dr. Miles' Nerveine will be found efficacious and satisfactory. It has cured many cases of these diseases and we believe it will cure you. We can give you names of many who have been cured through its use. Write for advice.

"My son John had epilepsy for years, and after having him treated by specialists for over 2 years he was almost given up in despair, but knowing the virtue of Dr. Miles' Nerveine, I procured a bottle for him. After taking it for a few days, I gave him a teaspoonful three times a day, and in July he was free from fits, and I could see that he was improving, and he has not had a fit since. On August 23, 1906, and has taken no medicine since then. I am glad to say the case just as it is hoping it will cure others."—J. W. Allison, Mooreville, N. C.

"Year ago I was afflicted with epilepsy, and was authorized him to return for the best bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you."—Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

PATRICK HENRY.

A Saint in Religious Matters, but Different in Politics.

The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography has a number of letters by Roger Atkinson, a Virginia planter, who came from Cumberland, England, about 1750 and settled near Petersburg. To his brother-in-law Samuel Pleasant of Philadelphia, he writes in October, 1774, concerning Virginia's recently appointed seven delegates to the first Philadelphia congress. The spirit of the man is shrewd, but obviously not reverential.

"Ye old gentlemen," wrote Washington, was bred a soldier—a warrior, a distinguished himself in early life before & at ye death of ye unfortunate but intrepid Braddock. He is a modest man, but sensible & speaks little—in action cool, like a Bishop at his prayer.

"The 4th a real flat Quaker, Patrick Henry, your brother's man—moderate & mild & in religious matter a Saint but ye very Devil in Politics—a son of Thunder—Rum-Graces—the Particular Farmer who I begin think I know it is to serve your Thomas. He will shake ye Senate & Some years ago had like to have talked Treason in ye House, these times a very useful man, a notable American, very stern & steady in his country's cause & at ye same time such a fool that I verily believe ye would puzzle even a very good man, to out-step a second Shippen—oh, that he had the handling of some of our Courtiers—for instance, was it North or South—Scott or English or Whig—our poor country have enough of it certainly ye verily believe it is no Macaroni!"

DeWitt's Little Early Riser, the famous little liver pills, are sold by all druggists.

Burkingham's Planks.
After the defeat and flight of Charles I. the desecrated body of Buckingham disguised himself as a mountebank, set up a stage in the heart of London and for days laughed in the faces of the royal Puritans, who were thirsting for his life. One day when his own sister, the beautiful Duchess of Richmond, was passing the joyful duke set the mob on to beat her from her carriage. They forced her to witness the planks of her brother, whom she recognized, but could not betray.

More Important.
Tess-Bess doesn't seem so quick to deny her age as she used to be. Jess-Jess got very stout lately. Tess-What has that to do with it? Jess-It takes all her time now to deny her weight.—Philadelphia Press.

The Twins.

Big cuts or little cuts, small scratches or bruises or big ones are healed quickly by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the surest and best remedy. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Sold by all druggists.

A Problem in Numbers.
No one is known to have succeeded in finding two integral numbers such that the sum of their cubes would produce the cube of a whole number. The cubes of the first ten numbers give the following series: 1-8-27-64-125-216-343-512-729-1,000. This series may be prolonged indefinitely. The problem would then be to find two members of the series such that their sum is equal to another member. Adding 125 and 216, we get 341, which is certainly pretty close to 343. Again, adding 216 and 512, we obtain 728, which is within a single unit of 729, another member of the series. At the present time, however, very close, but not exact, is that 729 plus 1,000 gives 1,729, which is but a single unit more than 1,728, the cube of 12. It will be seen, then, that the first twelve cubes yield two cases where the approximation is but a unit out of the way. As the possible cubes are infinite in number, it may seem worth while to prosecute the search.—Scientific American.

Trapped by Its Portrait.
If an old English writer be true in his observations, the pheasant must be a very simple bird, for he declares that it puts its head in the ground and thinks that all its body is then hidden. The same author says that it was also captured by another curious plan. A picture of the bird was painted on cloth and then placed in a spot where it was sure of being seen. By and by a silly pheasant coming along catches sight of the portrait and goes up to have a close view of the new neighbor. While engaged in inspecting the canvas he forgot to look down behind him and throws his net over the unwary art student.

The Dangers of Riches.
More men have been ruined by affluence and its consequent temptations than have ever been wrecked on the rocks of poverty. To the rich man duty often loses its imperative voice, and he tampers with his claims and neglects its fulfillment, while all the time he is breeding greed and selfishness in his heart, to the detriment of his whole life. Against all this and much more the man of relative poverty is defended and kept—Strand Magazine.

Practical Sympathy.
A gentleman was one day relating to a Quaker a tale of his own life and concluded by saying:

"I could not but feel for him."

"Verily, friend," replied the Quaker, "thou didst rise—thou didst feel for thy neighbor, but didst thou feel in the right place? Didst thou feel in thy pocket?"

FLOATING IN THE AIR.

The Impression on Ascending in a Free Balloon.

One of the first questions which I am usually asked by persons seeking information about balloons is, "What is the sensation of going up in a balloon?" writes Captain C. DeF. Chandler, U. S. A. I will anticipate this same inquiry of the readers of this article and state for their information that in a free balloon I have not noticed any peculiar physical sensation which can be described. It would be like trying to describe standing still as a sensation.

The impression on ascending in a free balloon is more an optical illusion. The ascent is so slow and gentle that it cannot be felt, and one has the impression that the balloon is motionless and the earth gradually dropping away. All the noises and shouts of the people become fainter and die out. As the altitude increases hills and valleys are not apparent, and the earth seems flat, like a beautiful colored map, showing cultivated fields, forests, etc.

The greater part of the time a balloon is moving either up or down, but the motion is not apparent, and the impression is a sensation to indicate whether the balloon is ascending or descending if a considerable change of altitude is made in a short time, the difference in air pressure may be felt on the ear drums. In descending even quite rapidly I have never had any sensation of falling—Journal of Military Service.

The Bath of the Future.
"The bath of the next century," says T. Burton Russell in his book, "A Hundred Years Hence," "will have the body speedily with oxygenated water delivered with a force that will render rubbing unnecessary, and beside it will stand the drying cupboard, lined with some quickly moving arrangement of soft brushes and fed with a highly desiccated air, from which, at most in a moment, the bather will emerge dried and with a skin gently stimulated and perhaps electrified, to clothe himself quickly and pass down the lift to the accompaniment of a summary of the morning's news read out for the benefit of the family or whispered into his ears by a talking machine."

Marital Punishment.
"So you have had it all out with your wife? How did you manage it?"

"Took her up in McLeone's cave. There there is the most remarkable echo in the world."

"How did that cure her? What did the echo have to do with her malady?"

"The echo had the last word."—New York Press.

Men Are So Unreasonable.
The young wife cannot understand why, if she only has a vase of fresh flowers on the table at breakfast, her husband should find fault just because the steak is burned.—Somerville Journal.

A Different March.
School Inspector—Now, children, what is it that comes in a box and goes out like a lamb? Small Girl—Please, sir, it's father when mother has been giving him a talking to.—London Express.

The Whales.
The largest of all mammals are the elephants, but the whales. A large elephant weighs about six tons, but the average whale weighs the enormous weight of 150 tons and would furnish four carloads of flesh and blubber. About forty different kinds of whales and dolphins are known and although they live in the open sea and look like fish, they are not fish at all, but are true mammals, breathing air and feeding their young on milk. Like cows and horses.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.
Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad case of rheumatism in my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25-cent box was used for me by affecting a perfect cure. Sold under a guarantee at Severs Drug Co."

She Said So Anyway.
The young man who was endeavoring to win the favor of Bobby's pretty sister met the boy on the street one morning and greeted him with much cordiality.

"Er—do you think your sister was pleased to know I had called the other day?" he was at last forced to ask, bluntly, after several efforts to guide Bobby's conversation in that direction.

"Sure!" said Bobby, with gratifying promptness. "I know she was. I heard her say so."

"When she came home mother said, 'Mr. Brown called while you were out,' and she said: 'He did? Well, I'm glad of that.'—Youth's Companion.

Ink on Leather.
For ink spots on leather chairs wash the spots with milk, renewing the milk till it is no longer stained and the spot on the leather has disappeared. Then wash the leather with warm water, and when dry polish it with a very little linseed oil and vinegar mixed in equal parts. The ink stain should be removed as quickly as possible, for if allowed to dry and harden it is doubtful whether you will ever be able to entirely remove it.

BASEBALL UMPIRES.

Kicking on Their Decisions is as Old as the Game.

Much has been said and written about the habit that ball players have, and apparently cannot break themselves of, of disputing decisions of the umpire. The practice has been a habit for many years. As far back as 1850 in an account of a game between the famous Atlantics of Brooklyn and the Excelsiors there appeared the following:

"We hope to see the boys' play of disputing over the decision of umpires entirely done away with."

Many years have passed since that was written, and the players still dispute what in some quarters is regarded should be the sacred decisions of the judges of play. Nowadays the best umpires in the game make allowance for the state of mind a player is in while engaged in a close contest.

The following extract is from a New York paper printed in 1867:

"Kelly says that Peck's dummy has created quite an excitement on Anna street. Dressed in a full baseball rig, he looks quite naïf. Scolded of the Haymakers did think about bringing the fight over to the Union grounds to act as umpire in the Haymakers-Eckford game yesterday, but a young man named Monell was found who answered readily as well."—New York Tribune.

Beloved Buzz rat.
For several minutes Sunday a belted buzz was flying over the residence of J. R. Leavelle, near Harlinsburg. Hearing the noise of the bell, Mr. Landreth left the house expecting to find some body's stock in the field, but investigation located the bell tones overhead. Will the beeper of the buzzard please report when and where he turned the bird loose.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is "in the public interest" to be published and sold in every detail, and to be carried in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to the larger and severer requirements of another generation.

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly revised in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and includes additions to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular knowledge than any generation that the world has ever known.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in the future as the highest authority in accuracy of definition, and that in the future it will be the source of constant reference.

OVERTAXED.

Hundreds Of Cloverport Readers
Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed;
Have too much to do.
They tell about it in many aches and pains—
Backache, sideache, headache.
Early symptoms of kidney ills.
Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

Thomas T. Duff, living on Main St., Elizabethtown, Ky., says: "Some two or three years ago I began to suffer from my kidneys. I had a severe pain across the small of my back which continued to grow worse and as a man of my occupation is forced to do a great deal of stooping it aggravated the trouble. I tried various plasters but they did not give me the slightest relief. I then saw Doan's Pills advertised and as they were highly recommended I procured a box. They went right to the cause of the trouble and a short use resulted in a complete cure. (Above statement was given on April 9th, 1905.) The Cure Proved Permanent. Mr. Duff confirmed what he had previously said regarding Doan's Kidney Pills: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me some time ago I have not had a return of the trouble and cheerfully give Doan's Kidney Pills my heartiest commendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MEMBER 54TH CONGRESS U. S. Recommends Per-u-na.

Peruna
Is A
Healthful
Tonic
And Successful
Catarrh
Remedy.

HON. W. E. ANDREWS.

Nebraska has furnished to our National Congress some of the brightest minds that have ever adorned that great national legislature. Men of push and fire, men of great oratorical and intellectual resources, men who have done much to shape the destinies of the western section of our country.

Among these modern statesmen of that versatile, American type, is Hon. W. E. Andrews, of Hastings, Nebraska. Hon. Andrews was formerly Vice President of Hastings College, and established an excellent record as a promulgator of public education before he became a member of Congress. Speaking of Peruna, he says:

"I cheerfully recommend the preparation, Peruna, as a healthful tonic and a successful remedy for catarrh in its various forms."—Hon. W. E. Andrews.

Hon. Thomas Cato, who was elected to Congress from Alaska, is well known on the Pacific slope, where he has resided. His Washington address is 1312 Ninth street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Congressman Cato writes of Peruna:

"I can cheerfully say that I have used your valuable remedy, Peruna, with beneficial results, and can unhesitatingly recommend your remedy to my friends as an invigorating tonic and an effective and permanent cure for catarrh."

Some people prefer to take tablets rather than to take medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets, which represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

CLIFTON MILLS.

Mrs. Jess Carter, who has been ill for some time, is no better.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Kurtz spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wright.

Sunday School is progressing nicely. Several from around here attended the birthday party of little William Hall, of Webster.

Hon. C. Slem, Congressman from Virginia, whose home address is Big Stone Gap, Va., writes:

"I can cheerfully say that I have used your valuable remedy, Peruna, with beneficial results, and can unhesitatingly recommend your remedy to my friends as an invigorating tonic and an effective and permanent cure for catarrh."

Mr. Ross Craig, Fork Vale, Tenn., had catarrh of the head for two years and had abandoned all hope of being cured, but to his surprise Peruna cured him sound and well.

Miss Ruth Norton, of Webster, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Owen Parks, this week.

Mrs. Morgan Chappel and son, Chester, spent Sunday with Mrs. John Burkhardt.

Oral Coomes and Clate Norton were here Saturday.

Miss Blanche Payne is visiting her sister, Mrs. Clara Hall.

Bread is the Staff of Life!

A Little Common Sense Bread Talk.

First, I want to thank my friends and customers for their kind patronage of last season. I have always done my best to make the best quality of goods. I use nothing but the very best materials, therefore my goods are always pure and wholesome. I have enlarged my shop for this season, and I have more room and better ventilation than ever before. I am prepared to keep my shop as pure and clean as any shop in the country.

I feel it my duty as a friend of the people to recommend my goods in my behalf as well as yours. First, it is our duty to take care of our health. "Eat nothing that is likely to carry germs or disease into the system." "Good, pure, fresh bread is the main food."

So beware, and be SURE that it is fresh and pure and has had no chance to absorb or take in germs of any sort that might be carried into the system.

"PROTECT HOME INDUSTRY and let home industry protect you." Get your Bread direct from the oven to the customer, and avoid all possibilities of germed or diseased Bread. Your Home Baker will gladly furnish you his Bread pure and fresh.

My wagon makes two trips daily, morning and evening. When you hear the Horn Blow, if you will kindly step out to the wagon you may be supplied with BREAD, ROLLS, CAKES, PIES, Etc. If you buy tickets we will sell you six for twenty-five cents. A net saving of twenty cents to the dollar.

For your benefit take my advice. Don't eat Bread that has been baked and then packed in old baskets and shipped all over the country to various places in cars with all kinds of fowls, dogs, hogs, calves, dead people and baggage of all sorts. And then the baskets thrown out on the side-walk and used as a stool for all classes of people that desire to sit on them and whittle, tell fish stories and kill time.

We make and can furnish you daily from the oven: SNOWFLAKE, CREAM, GRAHAM and SALT-RISE, all full pound loaves.

Thanking one and all for past favors, I remain yours for health,

HOME BAKERY,
S. J. BROWN, Prop.
